Please note: JCU is in the process of replacing the term Credit (or Credit for previous studies) with the term Advanced Standing. Some JCU publications have already adopted the term Advanced Standing and, in future, this publication will also replace Credit with Advanced Standing. In reading this publication, consider the terms to be interchangeable.

JCU – a great choice

James Cook University (JCU) is Australia's largest tropical university with campuses located in the vibrant northern Queensland cities of Townsville and Cairns. Smaller study centres are located in Mackay, Mount Isa (Mount Isa Centre for Rural and Remote Health) and Thursday Island. Student enrolments at JCU currently are around 15,200 and growing.

With over 170 undergraduate programs on offer, students have a wide range of courses to choose from at JCU – ranging across the Arts, Social Sciences, Health Sciences, Education, Engineering, Science, Business, Law and the Creative Arts. JCU works with employer groups to ensure that courses are relevant and forward-looking, and a growing number of courses include industry placements within their degree structures.

JCU is a high-ranking research university. For our students this means excellent facilities, highly qualified teaching staff, and courses that are informed by discovery. JCU makes the most of its tropical location and is internationally recognised for its expertise in matters relating to the tropics in areas such as marine biology, environmental studies, tropical health and agriculture, to name just a few.

The student experience is a memorable one at JCU. With our friendly campuses and effective support services, students are able to achieve their best. Student satisfaction is demonstrated by surveys that consistently show JCU graduates rate our teaching standards highly.

Our graduates enjoy positive employment outcomes, with very high placement for graduates from areas such as education, engineering and nursing. A recent survey indicated high levels of employer satisfaction with JCU graduates, in terms of their knowledge and skills.

If you have completed studies in the Vocational Education and Training (VET) sector and would like to move on to degree studies, JCU offers quality courses, excellence in teaching and a qualification that will work for you.

What is credit transfer?

Credit Transfer

Credit transfer – also known as articulation or advanced standing – is credit granted towards courses for study already undertaken. By giving recognition to prior learning, credit transfer prevents the unnecessary duplication of study and can save time and expense.

Credit transfer provides opportunities for lifelong learning – that is, the ongoing improvement of skills and upgrading of qualifications. Credit transfer can take the form of:

- block credit – which is credit for whole stages or years of a course;
- specified credit – which is credit for certain subjects/modules;
- unspecified credit – which is credit in the form of credit points or similar. Credit is not listed as being towards particular subjects but is general credit given towards a course. It is often assessed on an individual basis.

This publication contains information about credit transfer arrangements at JCU for:

- students who have successfully completed subjects/competencies and/or awards in the VET sector and wish to apply to study at JCU;
- students interested in qualifications jointly offered by JCU and other tertiary education providers;
- students who have successfully completed JCU subjects and wish to apply to study at TAFE.

The availability of credit transfer does not guarantee entry into a particular course. Often there are restricted numbers of places available, and sometimes there are additional prerequisites necessary for entry.

Some applicants may have grounds for credit transfer for reasons other than those listed in this publication, such as:

- further credit transfer arrangements may have been developed since this publication was produced;
- an applicant may qualify for credit transfer in a course even though their qualification is in a different area of study; and
- an applicant might hold an eligible qualification not included in this publication.

If you feel you could qualify for credit transfer, you should refer to this publication first, then check with JCU's Student Administration. They can put you in contact with an appropriate academic adviser, to discuss your application.

The VET Sector

VET stands for vocational education and training. This sector comprises registered training organisations such as private business colleges, (for example, Martin College) and government training institutions (for example, Barrier Reef Institute of TAFE).

National training packages

National Training Packages have been introduced in the VET sector. This system gives national recognition to students for successful completion of competencies under a national training package.

This publication specifically refers to Training Packages pertaining to the following JCU study areas: Business, Community Welfare, Education, Graphic Design and Social Work. Credit transfer arrangements for other study areas are yet to be finalised.

How to apply for enrolment @ JCU

First, check the various sections of this publication to see if you qualify for credit transfer for the JCU course you are interested in. You may also need to speak to a JCU academic adviser. JCU's Student Administration can help put you in touch with the right academic adviser – see previous page for Student Administration contact details. The enrolment procedure is set out below.

Step 1

Applications for enrolment are submitted via QTAC (Queensland Tertiary Admissions Centre).

QTAC processes most applications for undergraduate study in Queensland. You should apply electronically (the Apply by Web service) through the website www.qtac.edu.au

Those unable to apply by the web should apply by form. Copies of the QTAC Guide purchased at newsagents or from QTAC (see details below), contain the QTAC 2008 Tertiary Study Application form at the back of the book.

Step 2

If your application is successful, you will be offered a place at JCU. An enrolment pack that contains information about applying for credit transfer will be mailed to you. It is at this stage that your formal application for credit transfer is submitted – refer to application form at the end of this book.

When to apply

For courses commencing at the start of the year – Teaching Period 1: to avoid a late application fee, applications should be submitted to QTAC in Brisbane by the last working day of September.

For courses commencing mid-year – Teaching Period 2: to avoid a late application fee, applications should be submitted to QTAC around mid-May (check with QTAC for this date).

Applications lodged after these dates incur a late processing fee.

How to apply for credit transfer @ JCU

Step 1

Check the credit transfer details for your chosen JCU course as set out in this publication and, if necessary, in consultation with a JCU academic adviser.

The nature and extent of any credit granted will depend upon the areas covered in your previous course of study and its relevance to your chosen JCU degree, plus the time elapsed since the study was completed.

Step 2

Complete the JCU Application for Credit for Previous Studies Form found at the end of this publication. This form is also included in the Enrolment Guide, included in your JCU enrolment pack.

Step 3

Ensure that your application for credit is supported by certified copies of the relevant academic records, including details of the grading system used, plus other supporting documents such as descriptions of the subjects/modules studied in the course.

You can obtain certified copies of your qualifications by presenting both the original documents and photocopies of these documents to a Justice of the Peace or Commissioner for Declarations or to JCU's Student Enquiries Centre. If the academic records provided are not certified, or if there is any other irregularity, the processing of the application may be delayed.

Step 4

Send applications for credit for courses in Cairns to JCU Student Enquiries Centre.

Send applications for credit for courses in Townsville, Mackay and other study centres to the relevant faculty at JCU Townsville.

Addresses are provided in the shaded panel.

Step 5

Where possible you will receive written notification of the outcome of your application for credit before the start of the study semester.
